

Records Set First Day Of Automobile Show

Exceptionally Large Crowd Visit Automobile Exhibit at Armory On Opening Day—Cars Purchased Establish New Mark—Gorgeous Setting Delights Everyone—Arrangement of Displays Makes a Big Hit—Entertainment and Music Go Over Big.

Kingston's 1927 Automobile Show which is now in full swing at the New York State Armory is the most picturesque display of any of its kind ever staged here. On every hand Tuesday, the opening day, one could hear the many words of praise for the decorations and the arrangement. Although there is a wealth of cars on display there is ample room to look over each feature and when the Imperial Orchestra strikes up the music, only the marked features of the new type automobiles are able to turn one's attention from the music.

Another pleasant feature which adds to the enjoyment at this unique show is the entertainment. Sherman and Ryan, splendid singers and entertainers, were lustily applauded and repeatedly encored Tuesday evening at their performance, which takes place at 8:30 and 9:30 o'clock. This entertainment feature will be held each evening.

Large Crowd at Opening.
Opening with a fair crowd Tuesday afternoon, the first day of the show brought out a larger gathering than was dreamed of by the local automobile dealers. A splendid crowd was in attendance in the evening, one which proved to be a buying assemblage and not made up of "shoppers," for several dealers reported sales during the afternoon and evening. Numerous people after looking over several models selected certain cars, which they desired to try out and asked for demonstrations and the dealers were on the job with the demonstrators.

No feature of the show will be missed by anyone showing any interest as there is literature galore and a small army of courteous and very obliging salesmen.

Two Show Open Models.

The show came close to being a closed car exhibit. Two dealers, however, are showing open models. The George J. Schryver Motor Car Company is showing a new open Whippet which, however, is being shown with side curtains on so that it is not entirely strange to its fellow cars. William J. McGrath is showing an open Buick sport roadster with rumble seats. Mr. McGrath makes no apologies and displays this snappy car with top down, wide open and ready for a summer trip. Both cars are attracting attention by reason of their snappy lines and also by reason of their being the only open models displayed. There is also a Buick convertible coupe—semi-open car—on display.

Little Marmon and Erskine.

Several new cars which are making their first public appearance are attracting great attention. Among them are the Little Marmon and the Erskine at the exhibit of J. D. Schenck, of the Van Motor Car Company. The new Erskine Six, named for the president of the Studebaker Corporation, is one of the low cars at the show. It stands but 5 feet, 7 inches in its "sticking feet" and still has head room enough in the sedan for a large person to ride and drive in the utmost comfort. The Little Marmon eight, one of the hits at the New York show, is also being shown at the same booth. In contrast with the Little Marmon is the big Marmon sedan done in a most attractive chocolate brown. The Van Motor Car Company also shows two Studebaker models. The President sedan and a Standard 6 sedan.

An Attractive Corner.

Across the aisle in the Forsyth & Davis exhibit Pontiac and Oakland cars are displayed. In the Pontiac model is shown a sedan and a coach and similar models are also shown in the Oakland line.

The Van Kleck Motor & Garage Show. Many products adjoining the Van Motor Car Company exhibit. Mr. Van Kleck has sedans of both the advance and standard models and also shows a Star Six.

The Kuhlmann Garage shows three makes, a Jordan eight sedan, a Paige sedan and a Paige eight sedan. The Paige is one of the snappiest models at the show, mounted in the safety chassis, low and capable of speed.

Frank R. Schenck shows the Essex in both the eight cylinder model and also in the six. The Essex eight is one of the biggest and most luxurious looking models shown.

Jack Arison of the A. & W. Auto Show, a newcomer at the show, is showing two models in both the six and eight type. The Marquette eight is a sedan and the Marquette six is a coach model. At the end of the line is a Buick showing Chevrolet. A superb Cabriolet with rumble seat is the bright spot of this exhibit and the new Chevrolet sedan and coach comes in for its share of comment.

A Big Display.

The George J. Schryver Motor Car Company has one of the biggest exhibits at the show. Here are shown the Overland Whippet and the Willis-Knight. The open Whippet, sport model with rumble seat is one of the most attractive small cars at the show. A Whippet coach and a Whippet six sedan complete the showing of small cars. Two models of the Willis-Knight are shown, both sedans. The Willis-Knight Great Six and the Willis-Knight Great Four are both shown and there is a device which shows the operation of the Knight sleeve-type motor with which these cars are powered.

Rhinbeck Garage Exhibit.

Directly to the left of the entrance of the armory is the exhibit of the Hub Garage of Rhinbeck where a most interesting display of cylinder grinding, pistons and rings is shown. Here, too, a relining bearing demonstration is given with one of the machines used for that purpose. The Hub Garage has as a slogan, "The Garage with the Equipment," and claims the distinction of being one of the best equipped garages between Buffalo and New York. For years the proprietor has specialized in cylinder grinding and bearing work as well as crankshaft grinding and repairing of scored cylinders.

Todd's Free Tire.

Opposite is the Todd Tire Shop booth where Newark tires are displayed. Mr. Todd is going to give away a couple of tires during the show and one of the methods is to guess how many strikes of an ordinary tire pump is necessary to blow out a 33x5 Newark tube.

Iceless Refrigerators.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has a display of Frigidaire iceless refrigerators. Here is shown how to refrigerate by electricity. Various kinds of boxes are shown including two domestic types and one commercial box. In one of the refrigerators an onion and butter repose side by side to demonstrate the dry air which prevents odors from passing from one article to another. A milk cooler and an ice cream unit operated by electricity are also shown at this interesting display.

Batteries and Eliminators.

Frank L. Brown, auto electrician, has his usual space. Here Mr. Brown is showing Willard batteries and "A" and "B" eliminators for the radio, Spittorf equipment and Watson Stabilizers for motor cars. Lasco lubricating spring covers and Stephenson Protectors are also shown.

In the side room just off the main drill shed is the One Minute Washing Machine exhibit of the Hudson Valley Appliance Company.

Hot Dog Stand.

The hot dog stand is also located in this room and the booth of the Automobile Club of Ulster County where officials are always willing to explain the advantages of belonging to the club and tell you about the free emergency road service which is given to all members.

The Radio Room.

The other side room is what might be termed the radio room since it is occupied by W. Davis Hawk and the Gregory Radio Shop, both showing radio equipment in great detail. Mr. Hawk, who is exhibiting as a distributor and not as a retailer has a most interesting display of Sparon radios. Champion spark plugs, Edison Mazda lamps, Sparon horns, Edison socket power units and Yale flashlights and batteries for flashlights and also "B" batteries for the radio. These products may be procured from any of the dealers representing Mr. Hawk and his exhibit at the show is not for retail purposes but simply as a jobber in order to show a line handled by his dealers.

Gregory Radio Shop.

The Gregory Radio Shop shows radio in all its numerous forms. In fact Mr. Gregory can show you almost anything in radio. His booth is very attractively arranged with one side of the room occupied by radios and the opposite booth furnished with reed furniture where the customers may sit and enjoy demonstrations. His exhibit is very handsomely outfitted by four lamps which are shown in numerous patterns. His exhibit comes from the small Newark studio set, a most compact set, to the biggest in radio. He is featuring the big eight tube Ford-Stinson which is electrically equipped to operate direct from street power; the new 4 tube President Motorphone which is also electrically equipped; Orson's motorphone; and 10 tube DeLuxe. He also shows the Radio

Agents Rescued From Angry Mob

Hastings, N. Y., March 2 (AP).—Six federal prohibition agents who barricaded themselves in Farragut Inn last night for an hour to escape an angry crowd of 200 to 300, were released when four State Troopers answered their appeal for help and dispersed the assemblage.

The agents, headed by Gerard M. Flynn, of Prohibition Administrator Miller's office in New York said they purchased drinks at the inn and arrested two men. When news of the arrests spread the crowd quickly gathered, threw bricks at the building and damaged the agents' two automobiles. Flynn called the State Troopers at White Plains, charging the Hastings police refused to answer an appeal for help.

Morris Kaufman, said to be manager of the inn, and Richard Goldwyn, a waiter, were placed in the county jail charged with violation of the Volstead act.

Radicals Prepare Another Strike

Shanghai, March 2 (AP).—Foreign police here today obtained evidence that labor radicals are preparing for another general strike to take place whenever the Cantonese gain a decisive military victory.

The agitators were reported to be using the militarists' own weapon, terrorism, in their plans. At least two murders and several shootings in the Chinese quarters are known to have taken place. Two were arrested on murder charges.

Victims of the agitators are chiefly Chinese foremen who opposed the recent strike, while labor leaders regarded as a preparatory test for a real demonstration. They expected that the preliminary strike would reveal "weaknesses" which they hoped to correct.

AT GRADE CROSSING

Albany, N. Y., March 2 (AP).—Two accidents on the same grade crossing within a few hours today resulted in the death of an unidentified man and the narrow escape of Roland Bauers, a truck driver, whose automobile was struck by a train. The crossing, used by the West Shore and Delaware and Hudson railroads, is at Church street and Madison avenue.

A card bearing the name of a Troy clothing merchant was found on the dead man's body.

Will Press Charges Against Brother

Campbell Carrington Determined to Prosecute His Brother, Colonel Edward—Two Widely Divergent Stories of the Assault.

New York, March 2 (AP).—Campbell Carrington, 52-year-old wealthy New Yorker, with his head swathed in bandages due to injuries inflicted by a cane wielded by his brother, Colonel Edward C. Carrington, 55, today retained his determination to prosecute his brother for assault.

Colonel Carrington, arrested early yesterday on complaint of his brother, after the latter had been beaten at Broadway and 74th street late Monday night, was free under $1,000 bail pending a hearing tomorrow. Campbell Carrington remained in Polytechnic Hospital today on advice of his physician. Hospital authorities said he was resting.

Not only is Campbell Carrington determined to press the assault charges, but it was said he would file a $2,000,000 damage suit against his brother. Max Steuer, counsel for Campbell Carrington, says his client cannot believe his brother "is of sound mind."

Mrs. Anna Walsh Carrington, the colonel's wife, near whose home the assault took place, has announced her determination to aid in the prosecution of her husband. "I consider Edward Carrington a dangerous person," she said. "He ought to be punished."

Two widely divergent stories of the assault itself were told by the participants. Colonel Carrington described it as a duel of canes in which he came out a victor, while Campbell Carrington asserted he was set upon from behind by his brother, whom he termed "a coward and a brute."

Six "Equal Rights" Bills Voted Down

Albany, N. Y., March 2 (AP).—The Goodrich bill to provide for compulsory jury service for women, and five other "equal rights" measures, were voted down by the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly today.

Other bills voted down by the Judiciary Committee included:

Jenks bill to legitimize children born out of wedlock.

Jenks bill to include in the definition of "vagrant" any person guilty of lewdness.

Fay bill providing that the domicile of married women shall be determined as if they were unmarried, with respect to voting and to office holding.

HIS SPIRIT BRIDE FAILED TO MATERIALIZE.

Wichita, Kans., March 2 (AP).—John Seybold, 71-year-old Kansas farmer, has appealed to the district court here for a judgment of $7,500 against Mrs. Nellie C. Moore, self-styled spiritualist medium, because a spirit bride he married more than a year ago failed to materialize.

Seybold said he first became interested in the spirit world when Mrs. Moore assured him she had summoned the spirit of his son, who would guide him in all transactions. The complaint then tells of Seybold's marriage to "Sarah," the spirit bride. First there was an engagement, then a wedding by several earthly persons and numerous spirits were invited. An empty chair was provided for "Sarah" who failed to materialize despite assurances she was there, he declared.

Seybold produced evidence to show he paid $100 for the wedding feast, purchased a ring and decided three quarter sections of land to Mrs. Moore as well as depositing money for her.

Inspection and Show at Millard's

Public Inspection of Completed Building Combined With Ford Motor Show—Motion Picture Show Each Afternoon and Evening This Week.

John Millard & Son Company, distributors for the Ford products in this locality, are combining a Ford motor car show and inspection of the new show rooms opposite the central post office this week. Included in the spring display are the various models of the Ford car, Fordson tractors and equipment and several other displays of Ford products. During the week an especially attractive offer on Firestone tires for Ford cars and Ford batteries is being made.

The Millard firm was born in 1865 at the same location when a foundry business was established. Later, the original frame building was destroyed by fire and in 1888 a brick building was erected on the Dedrick street end of the lot and later this building was enlarged and used for years. On the Grand street side of the lot the old Millard residence property stood and this was the home of the Millard family until the business expanded and it became necessary to incorporate the house into the business as an office building. Then in 1925 Mr. Millard took up the erection of his present large modern show rooms covering the entire property and the present building is the outcome. Hanging on the wall of the new show room is a large picture which shows the transformation of the business from its small beginning to its present size.

The show rooms are light, airy and with plenty of space to show the Ford products which year by year are becoming more numerous. Facing the south where the office floor is located is a mammoth open grate. This fireplace is built of cobble stones and is surmounted by a mantelpiece upon which rest crossed sabers carried by John Millard's uncle during the War of the Rebellion. The fireplace gives a most comfortable appearance to the big show room and is the pride of John Millard.

Free Moving Pictures.

As to the rest of the building it is well worth a visit of inspection were cars displayed. The second floor is also used for show room purposes while one corner of the room has been curtained off and is used as a motion picture theatre. Two machines give continuous performances and each afternoon and evening several reels of pictures are shown. The afternoon performances commence about 2:30 o'clock and at night at 8 o'clock. Films showing the making of the Ford car, the Lincoln car, Champion spark plugs, the operation of the Ford railroads, educational films, industrial films and scenic films are on the program. In all twenty reels are on hand and the program will be varied during the week. There are 12 reels of film showing tractor operation, farm equipment and industrial exhibits. No admission is charged to either the show or the pictures.

Assisting in the demonstration of the Lincoln car is Mr. Metzdorf of the Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Company and Mr. Hunt of the Gash-Stull Company, distributors of tractor equipment.

On the main floor are shown all of the closed models of Ford cars and the Lincoln display. One of the new models of the Lincoln is expected to arrive today and another will be here on Thursday. One will be a seven passenger sedan and the other a two passenger special custom built Judding body coupe.

On the main floor is also shown an exhibit of the Ford specialties including paint, polishes, windshield cleaners and an exhibit of the new and old parts of the Ford car. Tire repair kits of Ford are shown and several other products including the Fordlin auto paint now used on Ford cars.

A cut away motor for Ford's showing the improvements to the engine, including the new Holly vaporizer, which has replaced the old style carburetor, is also exhibited. In this vaporizer the air is heated by a hot spot before passing into the gas chamber and then after mixing with the gas the charge is again passed through the hot spot before entering the cylinders.

Spark Plug Exhibit.

There is a Champion spark plug testing machine which drops a quarter pound weight 15 inches on the porcelain of the plug to demonstrate its strength. One of the films shown in the theatre is by the F. S. Bureau of Mines which shows the making of the millimantite and the progress of manufacture of the plug.

One of the one piece wire wheels shown on all Ford cars. At the rear is the Firestone tire display and battery exhibit. On the second floor is shown a ten foot track body with dual tires on the rear wheels, an open express job on the ten chassis, a panel and a speed-ahead and two in reverse are shown. During the afternoon and evening there is a musical program rendered by the band of the Firestone Fanfare under the direction of Frank Shaw. Several of these machines are shown, one playing records only and a second which is a combination of radio and phonograph. The show will be continued all this week and is well worth a visit.

This had been a long and arduous job but it has finally been completed and a copy with all of the amendments inserted was brought to the council meeting. Alderman O'Reilly's motion that the chair appoint a committee to examine the revised charter and to obtain bids on printing it in book form was adopted and President Everett appointed Aldermen Mann, O'Reilly and Relyea.

Motions and Resolutions.

The following motions and resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper city boards:

Farance Creek ranch, in Death valley, California, is the hottest known inhabited spot on the globe. A government thermometer there registered 134 degrees in the shade. The coldest recorded locality is in northern Siberia, where the mercury drops to 89 degrees below zero.

Preserving Paper Map

To make a paper map more durable the United States bureau of standards suggests dipping it in a weak solution of high-grade animal glue and hanging the map over a line until thoroughly dry. This can be done, of course, only if the printing ink is fairly resistant to water.

THE ENDURING THINGS ARE THE HAND-BUILT THINGS

It is hand-building that makes the Pierce-Arrow at once the most desirable and inexpensive car to own and operate. In this hand-building with the finest quality of tested materials, you have the reason for the stalwart ability of the Pierce-Arrow chassis to stand up, no matter how long or vigorously you use it.

Because of this hand-building, wear does not undermine the sturdiness of a Pierce-Arrow body nor does time mar its aristocratic good style.

If Pierce-Arrow were content to trade on its legendary fame, and delegate its responsibilities to others, enormous quantities of motor cars could be manufactured and sold.

But they would not be hand-built cars—and therefore they would not be Pierce-Arrows.

Hand-building does not make the Pierce-Arrow a high-priced car. The Pierce-Arrow is a two-door coach at $2895. Easily maintained 120-horsepower. Operating economy usually resulting and other compensating factors of car costing less. Pierce-Arrow nine-cylinder liquid-cooled in twenty-six charming color choices without extra equipment. Bulbless arm, four-wheel brakes and flexible double-acting shock absorbers standard equipment.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 2, 1927.

Installment selling when applied to perishable merchandise may get as all into hot water, comments a writer in the March issue of System, who points out that large capital is exceedingly necessary for the seller
of unobtainable merchandise.
With automobiles, or furniture, or radios the seller can reclaim a substantial share of the unpaid balance
if the buyer defaults. But obviously where the merchandise is shortly consumed the seller finds himself in the position of the restaurateur whose guests cannot pay. His only recourse is to a stomach pump.

THE SENATE JAM.

The almost unprecedented parliamentary tangle in the Senate, un-twisted for a time when cloture was clamped on the prohibition reorganization bill, has been filibustered back into a still greater state of confusion and promises to remain so until adjournment on Friday. Free of a legislative jam, the House is making matters worse for the Senate by passing more legislation than the latter can hope to dispose of in the two and a half days remaining this session. The House has just added another to the Senate's big bill slate by passing the medicinal whiskey bill, 209 to 151.

PROHIBITION RESULTS.

Stephen Graham, writing in February Harper's, makes an interesting comparison of the pre-Prohibition Bowers and that notorious thoroughfare as it exists under Tammany rule
today. Says Mr. Graham:

The condition of its inhabitants between midnight and dawn is a dreadful commentary on bootlegging.
In the Bowery the liquor is cheaper and stronger than in London, cheaper and stronger than it was in the Bowery before prohibition.

Reeling drunks come out at the little swinging doors and collide with indifferent policemen and fall helpless on the pavement, as if they were articles of human garbage, discharged from some window by an East Side family.

They do not make you laugh—
they make you turn pale, they sad-den you, they afflict you. Maxim Gorky wrote of "Creatures that once were men" or, to translate his title literally, "Those who once were";
but in all the night-lying houses of Nishit or Moscow he never saw any so sordid, so far from their Creator
and the Divine Workshop as these.
The liquor is cheap. In England
you get what we call "a double whiskey" for twenty cents. You can get the same quantity in the Bowery
for fifteen.

This graphic picture of lack of enforcement in the slums of New York is borne out by the official report of Dr. Charles Norris, the city's Chief Medical Examiner, who states that speak-easies today outnumber
licensed saloons before prohibition.
The number in operation is placed at 22,000 by Federal prohibition authorities. And this is the result of an absurd law that its advocates say is reforming mankind.

WHY TRY EXPERIMENTS?

There is food for reflection in the figures recently issued by the National Bureau of Economic Research which show that the annual income of the American people for the year 1926 was nearly ninety-million dollars, an increase of twenty-seven millions over the annual income of our people for the year 1921. Now this is a real increase in income because prices have not increased since 1921. In fact it is a great many lines they have been lowered, again refuting the charges of the free traders that a protective tariff measure constantly raises prices.
In fact the figures show that our per capita income has risen 26 per cent during the past five years when checked by the price index and the number of persons gainfully employed has increased 44 per cent.

In accounting for our present national wealth we will have to look further than the war and the influences of Europe. The Bureau of Economic Research says that "New inventions and greater skill and experimentation are still enabling the average laborer to produce standardly improved on the scale of economic output."

This is doubtless true and it is not to be forgotten either that the country has been made possible by the combination between both economic and political with the country has pursued during the past several years. We have come to our present condition not by trying to regulate the affairs of the world but by looking after American interests first. Not the least of the factors in our prosperity are the successful efforts made to prevent further encroachments on personal liberty and business opportunity by putting the state in business. We have greater prosperity, more evenly distributed,

and more modern conveniences and luxuries in the homes of workmen than any other nation can show. So, why not let well enough alone?

CURING SICK MINDS.

When we realize that from 25 per cent to 45 per cent of the patients who enter mental hospitals are now returned to the activities of life
cured, and able to take their places in the world, we naturally ask ourselves how all this has come to pass.

You will remember the treatment of former times which simply meant locking in a cell or room, a daily visit by the doctor and precautions to prevent the patient doing damage to himself or others.

Just the application of common sense methods, and the treatment of the patient as a sick individual, sick mentally, is the cure now.

The superintendent of one of these institutions tells us that the treatment consists of three factors, the housing, the diet, and the nursing of the patient.

The patient's room is away from smoke and noise, situated to receive some sunlight daily.

The diet is most important. "Only as a nervous man or woman eats will they improve."

A patient eat with his eyes, more than his mouth, consequently attractiveness of the table or the tray service, means so much in promoting sluggish or indifferent appetites.

And in addition to the attractiveness of the food and service, the patient must be given plenty of time to eat, a depressed patient may require an hour to partake of the necessary amount of food.

The nervous condition improves as the weight of the patient increases.
The nursing is the third factor, and this implies regularity of habits as to sleep, food exercise, visitors, and so forth. As soon as some real improvement is noted, the patient is treated as physically well, the same as other people.

And when you come to think of it,
the above treatment should help all nervous folks who are not mental patients, but doing their work in the world.

In fact it would be good sense if all of us, when under mental or physical strain, were to practice the above common sense suggestions.

KINGSTON WOMEN PROMINENT

Many persons in this city will be

Dream of the Empress Jingu

THE sudden death in camp of the Japanese mikado, Chihai, about the year 103 A. D., removed a stubborn obstacle to the conquest of Korea and enabled the bringing of civilizing influences to the island empire.

Okunaga Tarashihime, known to history under the title Jingu, meaning "warlike dead," was the wife of Chihai and a woman of ambitious and warlike temperament. When her imperial spouse set out for the island of Kushu to quell a rebellion, she accompanied him. After the voyage Jingu told her husband of an interview vouchsafed her by the gods in which she had been advised that great glory and riches awaited the Japanese in a land lying far to the westward.

Chihai apparently was lacking in pleasure or trust in his wife for he declined the invitation after climbing a high mountain from the top of which he could see no land across the sea.
The Kushu defeated Chihai and shortly afterward he died. Takenouchi, the mikado's minister, kept his death secret and the reins of government were left in Jingu's hands.
Her arms triumphed over the rebels and immediately she reverted to the dream of a conquest across the sea.

Ships were built and a great army assembled, but the people were fearful
to sail into the unknown waters, so messengers were sent on ahead in small boats. The second returned with news that he had seen snow-capped peaks to the west. Greatly cheered the fleet sailed on and at last landed on the shores of southern Korea. The king of the country was astounded when told of the invasion for he, like the Japanese, seems to have been ignorant of geography.

So great was his fright that this king offered no resistance to Jingu
and she returned to Japan with eight ships laden with gold and other spoil
and carrying as hostages eighty noble Koreans. A more important result was the establishment of contact between the barbarians of the island
domain and the more highly civilized nations of Asia.

But the Japanese, reluctant to attribute so much credit to a woman, paid greater honor to the memory of Jingu's son, Ojin, asserting that the spirit of war actually resided in this son, yet unborn, rather than in the mother, herself.

EPIGRAMS

There never will be enough for everything while the world goes on.— Winston Churchill.

What America really needs is more writers who will take to the woods and go fishing.—Harry Hansen.

To try to suppress opinion is like more force.—Hilton Young.

Even a dog is allowed to have one should have the same latitude.—G. B.

aim is to give off money rather than to take on learning.—Dr. John Andrew Diplomacy is an extremely straightforward business, mainly consisting of the application of common sense.—

Lord Cecil.

The first critic spent his short but wild life in trying to explain that a man need not be a hen to judge the years, her former enemies have been vainly endeavoring to set her up on her feet again. A fine illustration of the imbecility of war.—Arthur Ponson-

A FEW LONGINGS

"They exchanged a look full of longing," says a recent novel, and here's why:

He longed—

To be able to retreat into his own
home.

To have socks darned and buttons
sewed on.

To settle down and stop having to
"go places."

To hear children's voices near by.

To help spend her father's reputed fortune.

She longed—

To be able to entertain in her own
home.

To stop darned socks and sewing
on buttons.

To have an opportunity to "go more places."

To get away from her brothers' and sisters' yelling.

To help spend his reputed income.
—Kansas City Times.

WAYSIDE NUGGETS

(The way Carey J. Williams assembles them in the Greensboro Herald-Journal.)

Many people have "welcome" on their door but not in their hearts.

You know a man who can fix a flat tire, in the sun, with a smile. Well, we don't either.

There's a race of people that worship the sun. But most Americans watch the clock.

Manic is trying to burn all fraternities at Emory university. Probably he's after his Greek letter.

Some people would buy the world
as real estate if they could buy it on the monthly-payment plan.

Probably the motto of these birds
who frequent the front rows of a musical comedy is: "Half a leg, half a leg, onward."

In the old days, they turned a man out of the church when he didn't have any religion. Nowadays, they turn those out who have too much.

FROM THE WISE

Gold is the fool's curtain, which hides all his defects from the world.
—Fetham.

The fox has no desire for berries
because he has not learned to climb
the tree.—Italian Proverb.

The nuptial ceremony is an institution of earth even though marriages are made in heaven.—Lyre.

Husbands are like lots in the lottery; you may draw forty blanks before you find one that has any prize
in him.—Marston.

APARTMENT HINTS

To make room for a cat and a goldfish place fish inside cat.

Examine holes in walls carefully.
If you find shavings in any, they may be clothes closets.

Opposite walls of a small parlor
should be screened daily to keep them
from sticking together.

If your chest expansion is more than the room, smoking carefully the many cigarettes reduces it.

Origin of "Blimp"

The origin of the word "blimp" is unknown. Some authorities believe it is a "telescope" word formed from "b"
in "balloon" and "limp." "Blimp" is
generally applied to a nonrigid, lighter
than air, dirigible balloon.

The Wares We Offer You Have Had
Thoughtful Selection

When intelligent men and women shop
for home furnishings they make no hasty decisions. But explore widely and inspect shrewdly before exchanging a solitary dollar for wood and fabric that will bring joy or discontent.

Likewise, a furniture store that hopes to prosper never assembles merchandise haphazardly. But engages experienced men for the gathering of home equipment that shall satisfy in every respect.

Origin of "Blimp"

The origin of the word "blimp" is unknown. Some authorities believe it
is a "telescope" word formed from "b"
in "balloon" and "limp." "Blimp" is
generally applied to a nonrigid, lighter
than air, dirigible balloon.

No doubt you are a busy woman. Perhaps your work—at home or at business—is making your hands rough and coarse. Yet if you will spare but two minutes you can repair the damage that work has done and make your hands again naturally soft, white and charming. The secret is Thurston's Hand Cream—a brand new kind of cream, unlike anything you have ever tried before. It is not a cold cream, lotion or "vanishing cream," but something much more effective. Just a two minute test will gain you surprising results. You can see it work as you rub it into the skin. It disappears quickly—no gloves necessary. Your money gladly refunded if not entirely satisfied. Full-sized jar $1.00. For sale at—

I COME TO WELLAND

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

COME to Welland on a day:
I come to Welland; right away
My mind remembers bush and tree
And everything the eye can see.
The blunder plant, the distant town,
The walls of red, the roofs of brown—
And I remember now once more
I came to Welland once before.

I came to Welland long ago
To take some train; I hardly know
Just where it went or what I found.
But here's the little station ground.
The fence of pipe, the wooden posts,
The clean brick pavement that it bosoms.

The smooth white rails, the cinders
rough—
Yes, this is Welland sure enough.

I came to Welland. Where I went,
What train I took, with what intent,
I don't remember. Many plans
Were mine, the same as any man's—
I don't know what, but do not doubt
A lot of things I fussed about.
I haven't any doubt at all;
But what they were I can't recall.

I came to Welland, with a mind
Filled full of things of every kind:
Of words that grieve, of hopes gone wrong—
A heavy load I bring along
Of woes and worries, hurts and cares.
The most important of affairs.
Of things I won't remember when I come to Welland once again.

Mother's Cook Book

Being a parent used to be one of the most simple, natural and inevitable developments in the world. But nowadays, one has no business to be married, unless, sleeping or waking, one is conscious of the responsibility.
—Abraham Flexner.

FROM LEFTOVER BEEF

EVEN a small cupful of leftover beef, if added to a gravy and served on toast, will make a fine luncheon dish.

Roast Beef Sandwiches.

For four good-sized sandwiches make one cupful of brown sauce. When cooked add one tablespoonful of minced pickle. Cut the roast beef very thin. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter or other sweet fat, add it to a quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard; spread the bread with this. Dip slices of beef into the hot sauce and place them on the bread. Sprinkle with a very little chopped bacon on the top slice. Serve on a hot platter and pour boiling sauce over all. To make the brown sauce, melt two tablespoonfuls of butter; add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well browned; add salt and pepper to taste, and a cupful of beef gravy.

Beef Pie.

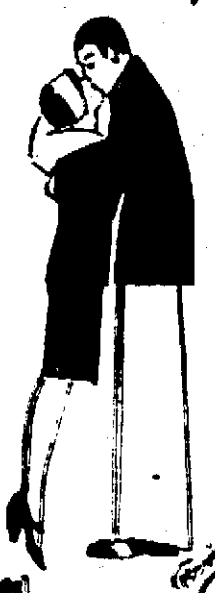

Cut cold roast beef into inch squares, using two cupfuls. Put into a quart baking dish and season with half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of red pepper, a tablespoonful of tomato catsup or one cupful of tomatoes strained and seasoned. Pour over the meat one cupful of broth or gravy mixed with water. Cover with a crust made of baking-powder biscuit dough; cut with a small cutter and place over the top.

There is no more delicious way of serving cold roast beef than in this, rosy slices on a well-garnished platter. Serve with cucumber or horseradish sauce.

Roast Beef With Mexican Sauce.
Cook one onion finely chopped in two tablespoonfuls of butter for five minutes. Add one red pepper, one green pepper and one clove of garlic, each finely chopped, and two tomatoes peeled and sliced. Cook fifteen minutes, add one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of celery salt and salt to taste.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Brocton—Chautauqua county is engaged in preliminary skirmishes against the European corn borer, against which the federal government is to conduct an organized warfare this year. During the winter months control measures are being discussed by the farmers and entomologists from the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University have been enlisted to assist in the fight. Protests last year against the adoption of the bollworm as the official flower of the country on the ground that it is a breeder of the borer, have held up the planting of the flowers along the highways until their culpability has been determined.

Wadhams—Nine full cords of four-foot wood were taken from a giant elm owned by Hardy Sherman of this Essex county village. Fully another cord was too gnarly to cut. The great tree had been a landmark in the district for several generations. It was felled by Fred Waisted and Charles Clark.

Ithaca—Dealers in farmers' supplies will meet at Rochester on March 9 and 10 to discuss with representatives of the extension service at the State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, the recommendations made by the college regarding feed, seed and fertilizers. Spokesmen for the college will be Professor H. A. Hopper of the animal husbandry department; Professor John Barron of the agronomy department; R. D. Lewis of the plant breeding department; and Professors E. A. Perregaux and V. B. Hart of the marketing department. The college is seeking greater cooperation between the dealers and the extension service.

Albany—Officials of New York state cities and villages will meet at city hall here on March 9 for their annual mid-winter conference. One of the speakers will be Mayor James J. Walker of New York who is scheduled to discuss "Needed Changes in the City Home Rule Law." Mayor Samuel A. Carlson, president of the conference, will preside. Other speakers will be Mayor Harry F. Clinton of Troy; Mark Graves of the state tax commission, who will talk on gasoline tax legislation; Arvie Eldred, superintendent of the Troy schools; H. Foster Piper, counsel for the joint legislative committee; George Knox, corporation counsel for Niagara Falls; John Merrill of the state tax commission; and W. D. Cameron, commissioner of public safety at Yonkers.

Danemora—Machine guns may soon be placed on the walls of Clinton prison, which now has more than 1,500 inmates. A representative of an arms manufacturing company recently demonstrated the weapons to Warden Harry Kaiser and it is believed that an order will be placed for six guns—one for every other guard post. Additional guards and cells for the prison, which is filled to capacity, were recommended in the last report of the prison commission.

Binghamton—Ash can heavers who chanted "Just Before the Battle Mother" and other martial airs as they performed their duties so disturbed one Binghamton taxpayer that she complained to the department of public works. She didn't object to the singing as such, but thought it a rather unreasonable hour for entertainment. Commissioner Kross agreed and the men now work in vocal silence.

A man who works for money alone is very poorly paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morris were Shokan visitors at Mrs. Emma Avery's over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Richtmyer were callers at Mr. and Mrs. Fred Houck's Monday night.

Charles Lewis left for Hamilton to see the basketball game played by Cornell and Colgate on Saturday night. Mr. Lewis has a son captain of the Cornell team.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Clark were guests on Thursday of Mrs. George Yanson at Roxbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morris, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Clapp and son, Henry, were 6 o'clock dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDermont at Arkville Tuesday.

Miss Erma Yanson and little Helen Clark were dinner guests of Mrs. Henry Muller Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Guthridge, who have been spending the past week in New York city, returned home.

Mrs. Wilbur Joslyn has been in Roxbury caring for her mother, Mrs. E. Dimmick, for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Dimmick has been very ill with pleuro pneumonia. She is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Miles Riley has the sincere sympathy of the residents of this community due to the death of her father, Mr. DuMont, Monday night.

Funeral from her home Wednesday. Interment in Woodstock Cemetery.

NEW POST OFFICE FOR NEWBURN IS ASSURED

The long fight of Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., for a new post office building for Newburgh has apparently been won, says the Newburgh News. A message from Washington announced that $90,000 had been allocated for Newburgh for the acquisition of a site and a start on construction of the building. The message stated that the House committee on appropriations had agreed to include Newburgh in the preferential list, and the bill will be reported today for final passage in the House of Representatives. It will then go to the Senate where it will have the right of way.

OLIVERIA.
Oliveria, March 2.—Miss Alice Haslam, who has been visiting her friends in New York city, has returned home.

The road is open to the town line now for the first time this winter. It took a large number of men three days to open the road. The mail carrier now has a road to travel on for the first time this winter.

Mrs. William Brackman, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Guinic, at Allaben, has returned home.

Mrs. Lawrence Dutcher returned home from the city Friday.

Miss Esther Bennett has entered a hospital in the city and expects to study nursing.

Far From This One

The mink is one of the most widely known fur bearers of the North American weasel family, says Nature Magazine. It is long-bodied and heavily proportioned, while its short legs and arched body cause it to walk slowly and clumsily. It swims with ease and thus obtains fish, frogs, crayfish or clams as a part of its food, supplementing the diet of small mammals, moles, mice and rats. Length about fifteen to twenty inches.

Packard Reduces $335

THE prices of three of the most popular Packard Six models have been reduced $335.

The Packard Six Five-Passenger Sedan now costs but $2250 at the factory

—the Five-Passenger Phaeton $2250

—the Four-Passenger Runabout $2350.

Seven years ago these models were introduced as America's first fine small cars.

Seven years have seen the public accept these cars to an extent that now makes it possible to offer the sedan for less than half its original price.

Seven years have seen each car developed to meet the needs of the most discriminating fine car owner.

Today's Packard Six is with one exception—the Packard Eight—the finest car Packard has ever built.

You can safely follow it in its Seventh Year of Success.

Eighty horse power and 126 inches of wheel base assure performance and riding comfort.

Those who act now may have early deliveries. May we tell you about our monthly payment plan, and the ease with which you may have a Packard by applying the value of your present car against the cost of the new one?

LINCOLN

Six-Brake
SYSTEM

SIMPLE in construction and mechanical in action, the Lincoln six-brake system assures positive operation under all conditions.

The service brakes, of the self-energizing type, act on all four wheels. The emergency brake has a dual action: it contracts the bands around the rear brake drums, and—at the same time—expands the rear wheel brake inner shoes.

Pressure is thus applied against both the inner and outer surfaces of the rear wheel drums—giving six brake control.

When turning corners with the brakes applied, the outer front wheel brake automatically releases slightly—giving complete and easy steering control.

We would welcome an opportunity to demonstrate the remarkable efficiency of this braking system.
